II. STRUCTURE, GOVERNMENT AND MANAGEMENT

Nature of the governing document
Memorandum and Articles of Association of Keystone Accountability, dated 15 November 2006.

Constitution: Incorporated company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital. Company registered in England and Wales.

Recruitment and appointment of Trustees
The Articles of Association of Keystone Accountability provide that there shall be at least 3 Trustees. Trustees are recruited by the Chief Executive and the existing Trustees through their personal and professional networks. New Trustees are appointed by resolution of the Trustees. The Trustees’ board is renewed annually by a third.

Induction and training of Trustees
The Chief Executive provides an induction on Keystone’s objectives and work to new Trustees. He provides them with a detailed presentation of the Accountability for Social Impact method and tools as well as of the underlying principles and philosophy. He also briefs them on their legal obligations under charity and company law. A Trustees’ induction pack has been compiled and is provided to all newly appointed Trustees.

As the method, tools and types of services offered by Keystone evolve, the Trustees are provided with detailed presentations of new developments during board meetings and on an ongoing basis through e-mail and telephone conversations.

Statement of Trustees’ Responsibilities
The Trustees (who are also directors of Keystone Accountability for the purposes of company law) are responsible for preparing the Trustees’ Report and the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

Company law requires the Trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year which give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the charitable company and of the incoming resources and application of resources, including the income and expenditure, of the charitable company for that period. In preparing these financial statements, the Trustees are required to:

- Select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- Observe the methods and principles in the Charities SORP issued by the UK Charity Commission;
- Make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- State whether applicable UK Accounting standards have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements;
- Prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the charitable company will continue in business.

The Trustees are responsible for keeping proper accounting records that disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the charitable company and enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 2006. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the charitable company and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

Related parties:
- Keystone Accountability US: A non-profit 501(c)(3) organisation has been incorporated in 2007 and has worked to fulfill its mission by, among other things, supporting Keystone Accountability (UK) projects.
- Keystone Accountability South Africa: Registered as a Company incorporated under Section 21 of the South African Companies Act (Company not having share capital), with similar purposes to Keystone (UK).

Risk review statement
The Trustees have examined the major risks faced by Keystone and have identified the absence of a sufficient funding to carry the organization should there be a slowdown in earned income to be the most pressing one. A strategic plan is in place and entrusted to the Chief Executive to build up a reserve fund of £90,000, which would meet Keystone’s core operating costs for approximately three months.

The staff handbook addresses risks related to staff safety and well-being.

III. OBJECTIVES AND ACTIVITIES

Objectives of the Charity (as set out in the Memorandum and Articles of Association):

- To advance the efficiency and effectiveness of charities and to improve the effective use of resources for charitable purposes
- To promote the voluntary sector (being charities and organisations established anywhere in the world for exclusively charitable purposes as determined in accordance with the law of England and Wales) and voluntary organisations (being non political organisations, independent of local or national governments or other statutory authorities, established for purposes that add value to whole or a significant section of the community and which are not permitted by their constitutions to make a profit for private distribution) for the benefit of the public
- To advance education
- To relieve poverty
- To advance any other exclusively charitable purposes recognised as such by the laws of England and Wales for the benefit of the public.

Charity’s aims and strategies:
Keystone’s strategic aim is to improve the effectiveness of social purpose organizations. We work with these organisations to develop better ways of planning, measuring, realizing and reporting their impacts.

Specifically we help them improve by:
• considering other actors' behaviours and incentives when planning their work;
• listening to different constituents' views of their plans, actions and reports; and
• using this data to strengthen relationships, improve work during implementation, and feed into impact evaluation.

We have created an original methodology that we call 'constituent voice’ – a way to listen and respond to the people most involved in social change. We publish resources including our tools and reports. We make all our intellectual property available for free using a Creative Commons license. We also conduct research on issues related to planning, measuring and reporting social change for the purpose of improving our own work and influencing the sector of social development.

Statement on Public Benefit
The ‘objectives and activities’ and ‘achievement and performance’ sections of this report set out activities that Keystone Accountability undertakes for public benefit.

The Trustees confirm that they have complied with the duty in section 4 of the Charities Act 2006 to have due regard to public benefit guidance published by the Commission in determining the activities undertaken by the charity.

In the interest of transparency, the Trustees make the following observations on the two key principles of public benefit.

Principle 1: There must be an identifiable benefit or benefits

1a It must be clear what the benefits are.

The benefits are clearly set out in the accounts of Achievement and Performance given in the body of this report.

1b The benefits must be related to the aims.

The Trustees review the activities of the charity against its aims on an ongoing basis and are satisfied that all activities continue to be related to the aims.

1c Benefits must balanced against any detriment or harm.

No specific issues of detriment or harm have been identified.
III OBJECTIVES AND ACTIVITIES

Principle 2: Benefit must be to the public or a section of the public

2a The beneficiaries must be appropriate to the aims.

The organisations that Keystone Accountability works for all work for the public benefits and are mostly registered charities. For instance, they include grantees, grantmakers and international humanitarian agencies like Oxfam and Save the Children.

2b Where the benefit is to a section of the public, the opportunity to benefit must not be unreasonably restricted by geographical or other restrictions; or by the ability to pay any fees charged.

There are no restrictions on benefits.

2c People in poverty must not be excluded from the opportunity to benefit.

Privileging the voices of people in poverty is central to what Keystone Accountability does in assisting charitable organisations to achieve their aims more effectively. In fact, Keystone’s constituent voice method provides a way for any charity to establish the evidence base for meeting this duty.

2d Any private benefits must be incidental.

A number of private benefits do necessarily arise from the activities of the charity. In particular, the charity finds it essential to employ and remunerate staff. These private benefits are a necessary step in achieving the charity’s aims.

Activities

Constituent Voice-based evaluative systems

We provided consulting to organizations wishing to deepen their ability to plan for, assess, learn from, and report their impacts. During the year we have completed several projects advising on organisational planning, monitoring and evaluation processes. As part of the ongoing Oxfam America work in Ethiopia, we advised on the development of a farmer voice feedback system as part of their monitoring and evaluation framework. This project has recently been extended.

In line with Keystone's strategy to increase the incentives and rewards for practicing constituent voice, Keystone continues its partnership with Charity Navigator to upgrade its rating methodology to include a results dimension. Keystone was a consultant to the Global Environment Fund, who, believing that its investees will be more effective through improved accountability to their local constituents, engaged Keystone to put in place practical and effective feedback loops between their investees and the people those investees affect.

Ground truth
Ground Truth is a program of Keystone Accountability. It is led by Nicholas van Praag, whose career has spanned humanitarian and development work at the UN and The World Bank. Ground Truth aims to complete the cycle of accountability in humanitarian programs by bridging the gap between listening and taking action. Over the year, grants for developing and piloting the Ground Truth approach were received by both the IKEA Foundation and the Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation. Since the year end, additional funds have been received by the Conrad Hilton Foundation, which has allowed us to pilot Ground Truth in both Pakistan and Haiti, with initial data confirming the importance of listening to beneficiaries.

Benchmarking surveys
Keystone is a global pioneer in the development and delivery of benchmark surveys. To date, it has four benchmark surveys.

Keystone-iScale Performance Survey: Networks
Together with a leading network theorist, iScale, Keystone ran the first international survey of the members of international social change networks in 2009. We ran another cohort of organisations to take this comparative benchmarked survey, which finished in early 2012, and have since ran it for two additional organisations, the most recent being ACODEV, which was commissioned at the end of March 2013, with the final report being delivered in September 2013.

Keystone Performance Survey: Development Partnership
We first ran this benchmark survey for a cohort of 28 international humanitarian organisations in 2011. It explored these organisations’ partnerships with over 1,000 local NGOs. Since then we have conducted the survey on an “as they come” basis as well as for cohorts of members of national NGO umbrella bodies such as Partos (Netherlands) and ACODEV (Belgium). As evidence that the survey is useful in recognizing NGO’s strengths and limitations, and providing them with impartial and confidential data they can use to improve the work, a number of organizations are now repeating the survey. Several of the participating agencies have published their confidential reports, which allows us to publish them on our website.

Keystone Performance Survey: Grantmakers
This was first done with 8 East African grantmakers in 2008, and again with 12 Southern Africa grantmakers in 2010. Since then, we have shared the survey tools to allow for an Arab region round involving 3 organisations. In 2012/13 we conducted the survey with a North American grantmaker, and continue to discuss running another East Africa cohort with East Africa Association of Grantmakers (EAAG).

Keystone Performance Survey: Impact Investing
This survey has only been done once, in 2010, however in early 2013 we published a public cohort report. This summarised the data and made a compelling case for investee feedback. As a result, we discussing running the survey for a number of UK based investors in late 2013/early 2014.

IV. ACHIEVEMENTS AND PERFORMANCE

Client work carried out
We have split our work into two broad categories. Constituent Voice-based evaluative systems projects can range from the design stage to full implementation. Benchmark surveys include our Network, Development Partnership and Grantmaker surveys

IV. ACHIEVEMENTS AND PERFORMANCE

What do those we work with say about us?
Keystone administers two surveys to clients following its work with them. The first survey is administered shortly after the delivery of the main output in the work. Despite the large range of clients during the year, Keystone only had 10 responses to the first survey, which we dub the client satisfaction survey. The second survey explores what difference our work with the client made for them. We call this second survey the impact survey.

Areas highlighted to improve:

“Partners had a lot of technical problems in filling, saving and sending the survey. Most probably due to old Acrobat Reader versions.”

“Possibly, better engage our network in answering the survey. More follow ups and reminders.”

“Good job, but took a bit too long.”

“Maybe the technical aspects of the survey could have been better, more user friendly.”

The Impact Survey

Keystone had 2 responses from FY2013 clients to the impact survey.

Other indicators

Other organizations are starting to study, test and use Constituent Voice methodology as well as the term. In one case we know of, a large provider of consulting services to nonprofits is now offering “Constituent Voice” services. It is difficult to track this but one indicator is that in 2010 virtually all hits on web searches for Constituent Voice led directly to Keystone. In 2013, only about 20 per cent of the first 20 hits lead directly to Keystone.

<td>Global Giving are using our free feedback app and building on it to get partner feedback. A LIFT client asked if they could leave written feedback after taking the Constituent Voice survey. He wrote a very positive letter. KVTB introduced radio shows, as a result of KVTB report by Keystone. KVTB also concluded &quot;Ongoing relationship surveys can be tool or early warning system for negative impact on the plantations and conservation land&quot;, which is credit to keystone’s tools and approach.</td>

<tr>
<td>Quality of analysis</td>
<td>In addition to several publications, Keystone’s work has manifested itself in a variety of places: • Gates Grand Challenges Explorations Round 12 used Keystone language in its RFP call. • Bridgespan conducted a workshop on “Integrating Constituency Voice to Achieve Greater Impact.” • David Bonbright was asked to host a webinar on the use of impact evaluations. 257 participants across 2 sessions plus 111 views on the recording. • Keystone INGO survey referenced in Mercy Corps report despite not recently taking the survey</td>

IV. ACHIEVEMENTS AND PERFORMANCE (continued)

Other indicators

By examining which search results for “constituent voice” and “Impact Planning, Assessment and Learning” are directly related to Keystone’s work, and which are coming from other organisations, we get an understanding as to the wider dissemination and use of these terms beyond Keystone. We can see that both IPAL and Constituent Voice is gaining traction as a term in the wider sector. We expect with our continuing work with the likes of Charity Navigator in particular for this to continue to change in the coming months and years.

A further look at our influence on the field can be seen by looking at Keystone’s involvement in various publications and speaking events – see above.

Website traffic

Website traffic is calculated by calendar year, not financial year. While there was a reduction in visiting the Keystone website from 44,069 visitors in 2009 to 37,876 in 2010, the number increased in 2011 to 48,198, and again to 68,137 in 2012.

We recently launched a new blog site on Wordpress, which will be added to the table below for tracking in next year's report.

V. FINANCIAL REVIEW

The total income for 2012/13 was £336,468 and the total expenditure was £291,192. The balance of funds carried forward to the 2013/14 year are £42,203 in unrestricted funds and £42,915 in restricted funds.
VI. FINANCIAL REVIEW (continued)

Policy on reserves
As mentioned, at the year-end, Keystone held a total of £42,203 in unrestricted income. The Board has a policy on reserves set out below that is included in the Charity's financial controls. Total reserves are below the desired amount, although up from last year.

Keystone's reserves policy is to build up reserves as rapidly as possible:
- To assure the continuation of Keystone's activities during 3 months in case of shortage of periods of low income.
- To provide assurance to members of staff and to those with whom we undertake commitments of Keystone's reliability as an employer and business partner respectively.
- As a precaution against adverse economic conditions and any consequent decline in the charity's income to permit the development of ambitious programmes.
- The level of unrestricted reserves needed for these purposes is set at £90,000 (approximately 3 months of ordinary operating costs).
- The level of the reserves will be reviewed by the Board once a year as part of the budget review and approval process.

INDEPENDENT EXAMINER’S REPORT TO THE TRUSTEES OF KEYSTONE ACCOUNTABILITY

I report on the financial statements of the company for the year ended 31 March 2012 which comprise the Statement of Financial Activities and Balance Sheet, with the related notes.

This report is made solely to the company's Trustees, as a body, in accordance with section 145 of the Charities Act 2011 and regulations made under section 154 of that Act. My work has been undertaken so that I might state to the company's Trustees those matters I am required to state to them in an Independent examiner’s report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, I do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the company and the company's Trustees as a body, for my work or for this report.

RESPECTIVE RESPONSIBILITIES OF TRUSTEES AND EXAMINER
The Trustees, who are also the directors of the company for the purposes of company law, are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements. The Trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year under section 144(2) of the Charities Act 2011 (the Act) and that an independent examination is needed.

Having satisfied myself that the company is not subject to audit under charity or company law and is eligible for independent examination, it is my responsibility to:

• examine the financial statements under section 145 of the Act;
• follow the procedures laid down in the general Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145 (5) (b) of the Act; and
• state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

BASIS OF INDEPENDENT EXAMINER’S REPORT
My examination was carried out in accordance with the general Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the company and a comparison of the financial statements presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the financial statements, and seeking explanations from you as Trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the financial statements present a 'true and fair view' and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below.

INDEPENDENT EXAMINER’S STATEMENT
In connection with my examination, no matter has come to my attention:

(1) which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in any material respect the requirements:

- to keep accounting records in accordance with section 396 of the Companies Act 2006;

and

- to prepare financial statements which accord with the accounting records and comply with the accounting requirements of section 396 of the Companies Act 2006 and with the methods and principles of the Statement of Recommended Practice: Accounting and Reporting by Charities

have not been met; or

(2) to which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the financial statements to be reached.
